President's Corner

We lost JJ McGill on November 9th to a tragic car accident. This is truly a devastating loss to his family, his friends, and to Saltfork Craftsmen. Such an untimely death is a real blow. Please keep all those close to JJ in your prayers.

It's hard to imagine planning a conference without JJ, but we're getting the ball rolling. I keep remembering JJ fondly as I think of his contributions to conferences over the past years. JJ, I miss you.

JJ's obituary can be found at

https://www.halesfuneralhomes.com/obituaries/Jimmy-Jo-JJ-McGill?obId=29883841.

Additionally, David Seigrist spoke eloquently at JJ's funeral which was held at the Tractor Museum grounds in Sulfur. We're including David's words in this issue.

Editor's Notes

Special thanks go to Jason O'Dell who is stepping up to cover more newsletter editing responsibilities. I'm hoping he'll take over the main editor hat in the next month or two. We've been looking for collaborative tools where multiple contributors can work on a newsletter together. Hopefully, contributors who are computer savvy can just add their content rather than duplicate labor by writing content in some other platform and then forwarding it to the editor for re-formatting.

Eulogy for Jimmy Jo (JJ) McGill

JJ was the kind of guy who always “knew a guy” that could fix or do anything you were looking for.

How do you get to the point where you “know a guy”?

It takes a lifetime of being friendly, being a part of the community, and helping others whenever you get the chance. You can't be a hermit, and you have to associate with people who make things happen. Those who either figure it out or make do with what you have or seek help from someone who does. Someone who sees a need and steps up to help out. Then other folks will start doing the same for you and after a while you will “know a guy”. Put in the effort, the hard work, and the heart work.

It was his idea to host the blacksmith conference here in Sulphur. We were having issues with locations, hotel availability, venues, etc and as it turned out I “knew a guy” who knew a place.

During one auction at our yearly conference I was losing the rhythm of keeping it lively and people entertained. Being the auctioneer and handing out items won was getting a bit hectic. JJ stepped right up and helped out without being asked. He saw the need and stepped right up, you see "he knew a guy" who could help.... It was him.

When it came to hosting blacksmith classes after the conference he was always concerned about "Did you get enough to eat?" Letting you know what was next on the menu so you had something to look forward to.

This earth suit that we wear (said while flexing my hand), was designed and made for us while we are here on earth. If we want to go into space we need a space suit. If we want to go underwater we need a scuba suit. Our bodies were not made to go into those environments alone. Where JJ has gone you cannot take your earth suit. It was not designed for where we are going. Where JJ has gone, he will need a new suit so he had to leave his earth suit behind.

This is not the end by any means. All of JJ's life up to this point has been the "forward" to JJ's book. You know that part up front that tells you about the author? Everything we know about JJ is written in his autobiography in the "forward" section. Turning the page now his book says "Chapter 1" and the adventure continues.

2nd Annual OKC Renaissance and Scottish Festival November 4 th -5 th, 2023.

The weekend was a perfect fall weekend for a festival with light winds, brilliant sunshine and coal smoke in the air. The sound of hammering rang out for two days as the Saltfork Craftsmen provided educational public demonstrations of blacksmithing for people of all ages. The crowds were good considering it was bedlam weekend and there were several other opportunities of things to do this particular weekend. We met and visited with lots of people and represented the club to the public. There were more than 10 members of the club in attendance. Not Pictured are Caleb & Shayla Hader and several other smiths.

NW SCABA meeting Jan 27, 2024

Hosted by Rory Kirk. We had a very good meeting at the Elk City Route 66 museum blacksmith shop. We had around 14 people at the meeting and we had a great time forging and talking with each other. We had a very good lunch and more forging in the afternoon. Trade item was a bookmark.

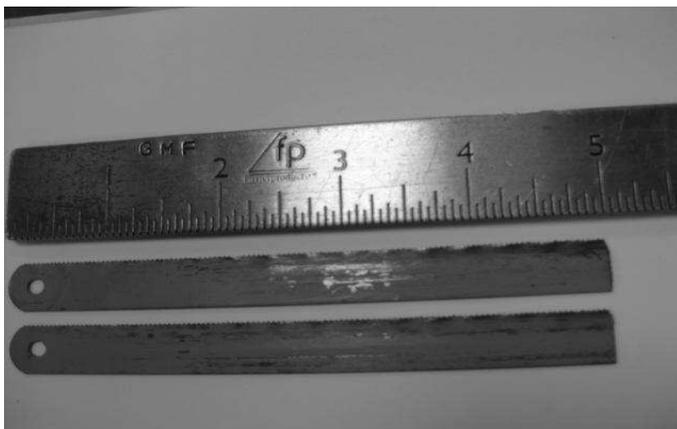

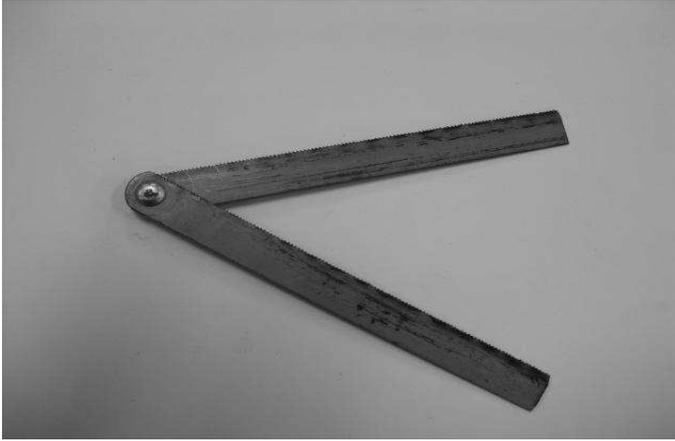

Quickie Divider by Gerald Franklin

Broken hacksaw blade? Don't be too quick to throw it away. Follow the progression to make yourself a quickie divider to help with project layout. Not fancy but it is functional.

Start with equal lengths of the broken blade. Make sure you save the factory holes.

Rivet or bolt the pieces together

Grind each leg to a point and you're ready to put it to work.
